SULPHUR SPRINGS VALLEY
FARMERS WHO MADE GOOD

Article No. 1. George Giragi. Successful Farmer

(Douglas International)

George Giragi is pointed out by Sulphur Springs valley farmers as one of the most successful in the valley. His 160-acre farm is situated five miles northwest of Douglas. He moved on to the homestead nine years ago with $5,000 cash. He had been a miner. He says that the place is worth $15,000 now. All his profits he has put back into the place. For the last few years they have averaged $1500 and $1600 a year. He also has a comfortable wad in the bank.

Giragi has 80 acres cleared now and the coming season expects to have 60 acres under cultivation. Not once since he moved on the place has Giragi worked at the smelter to tide over a financial stringency as some settlers have done. He says, though, that no man should move on to a homestead unless he has at least $1000—enough to build a house, buy a team, wagon, plow, sink a well and keep himself and family in clothes and provisions for a while.

Is a Trucker

He has made his money mainly by trucking, raising egg plants, cabbage, chili, tomatoes, bell peppers and such things. Under glass he is now growing a large number of young plants to set out in the spring. He had 30 acres under cultivation last year. Mrs. Giragi earns considerable money making butter and cheese, which she sells in this city for fancy prices. The first year Mr. Giragi went in debt $700 for a windmill and other things, but raised enough vegetables on a little patch with nothing but a grub hoe and a windmill to clear $300 the second year. He has not been in debt since, having done very well indeed.

Has Three Wells

On his place he has three wells about fifty deep. One well is equipped with a 22-horsepower engine and cost several thousand dollars. Another well is equipped with a 4-horsepower engine. Mr. Giragi has a 7-room house and a considerable number of cows, horses and hogs.

"They told me I was foolish when I started in on my 160-acre plot of mesquite, but I am entirely satisfied," said Mr. Giragi. "It has been hard work but it has paid. Every year the profits

STATE LEGISLATURE
MONDAY

PHOENIX, Feb. 4.—About 100 bills remain in committee on both sides and a good many of them will always remain there. A good many others are amendatory and should not take very long to send over the jumps. A few are of unusual importance and will take a long time to thresh out.

The mine tax bill is very actively before the ways and means committee of the house, from whence it may be reported tomorrow.

The chief transaction of interest in the senate this morning was the final passage of the Drachman immigration bill, giving cities power to encourage settlers to come their way.

Senate bill No. 51, introduced yesterday by Senator Kinney, of Gila, regulating stallion service, was referred to the live stock committee.

Senate bill No. 52, also by Kinney, providing for a party primary, was referred to the committee on suffrage and elections.

Senate bill No. 53, introduced yesterday by Senator Webb, of Maricopa, amending civil code paragraphs relating to property subject to taxation, was referred to the finance committee.

The governor this morning signed the state fair deficiency bill, carrying an appropriation of $21,000. This is the third measure to receive executive approval since the beginning of the session.

The senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, with Senator Webb, of Maricopa, in the chair, considered senate bill No. 26, which is the Stapley bill creating a board of public welfare and abolishing the board of control, with powers of supervision over and inspection of public bodies, and the centralizing of control of our public institutions and creating the office of state purchasing agent. The recommendation of the committee is that the bill "do pass."

A companion measure, senate bill No. 29, also by Stapley, was debated and eventually referred back to the committee on state accounting and methods of business for minor amendments.

TUESDAY

PHOENIX, Feb. 4.—In the Senate this morning the following new bills were introduced:

No. 55 by Riggs, of Cochise, defining artificial wells; regulating use of same, and the use of storage reservoirs and ditches connected with same and subterranean flows. Requiring drillers to give a bond for a faithful compliance with the law and providing for the office of artificial well inspector in counties having ten or more such wells and providing a salary for such inspector of from $500 to $2000 per annum. This is a "request" measure and of especial interest in Cochise at the present time where artesian development is going forward.

No. 56 by Colter, of Apache, providing that state funds raised for the purpose of retiring state bonds at maturity shall be carried by the state treasurer in a special fund.

No. 57 by Stapley, of Maricopa, amending the good roads law providing for the raising by general taxation of $250,000 annually as a state road tax, 75 per cent of which is to be apportioned in the amount to each county of 75 per cent of the taxes collected under this act; the funds to be expended under the direction of the boards of supervisors, the state engineer, the board of public welfare and the county engineers; the remaining 25 per cent after paying expenses and salaries shall be used in establishing roads and highways.

No. 58 by Garvin, of Yuma, amends chapter one, title 30 of the revised statutes.

No. 59 also by Garvin, provides for the establishment of election precincts and amends the procedure in making election returns.

No. 60 by Webb, of Maricopa, re-amends chapter one, title 30 of the revised statutes. If my health were a little better I could do better still. When one has to hire labor, it eats up the profits quickly. Some farmers around here are doing better than I am I guess. I am told that one man made $2,000 from sweet potatoes."

Gleeson Mines
Prepare to Re-open

GLEESON, Feb. 5.—Following orders recently issued from the New York headquarters of the Shannon Copper company, a force of men have been put to work on the Copper Belle mine, in this camp, in getting things in order for extensive operations. Water is being pumped from the main shaft and it is expected that within two weeks the Copper Belle will be producing a large amount of the metal for which it is noted. Several families have already taken up their residence here and there is every indication that prosperity for this camp is not far distant.

Judge L. H. Rader and Constable Late Gibson drove over to Tombstone the former part of the week on business.

John Short and Bob Stone have opened a butcher shop here.

There are two cases of diptheria in the camp. The house where the disease broke out has been quarantined, and all in the power of the health officers is being done to prevent spread of the disease. So far no new cases have developed.

Judge Rader and Albert Spikes, the local school teacher, went to Tombstone Wednesday on business.

The dance lovers of Gleeson enjoyed a grand masquerade ball at Taylor's Hall on Saturday 30th.

Harry Christenson went to San Simon, where he expects to remain for about a week on business.

Miss Pearl Wells is a visitor in Gleeson from Douglas, with her brother, Ruhe Wells and family.

Big Ranch Deal
In Tombstone

Another big ranch deal was consummated in Tombstone this week, when E. H. Reeves, as administrator of the estate of Thomas Haberstock sold to Mrs. Mary M. Costello, the entire ranch property of the late Thos. Haberstock, the sale having been confirmed by the superior court last Saturday.

The consideration for the ranch property and improvements, was in the neighborhood of $5,800, and the cattle brought an all round price of $30.25 per head. There are approximately 280 head of cattle that have been accounted for so far, which means a total consideration of about $8,000, or for the whole property, a total consideration of $13,500.

This is considered one of the most important ranch deals in these parts for some time, as it is known that there have been several parties, including the Bonquillas Company that desired to purchase the ranch and cattle belonging to the estate.

Mrs. Costello also purchased from Mrs. Fred Nussbaumer, her homestead adjoining the Haberstock ranch, amounting to 160 acres, and this gives a large pasturage to the cattle and much valuable land. Her son, Cecil, recently purchased from Forest Ranger B. W. Jones, his ranch in the famous Cochise Stronghold, the consideration which is said to have run well up into five figures.

The proceeds of the estate will be divided among the brothers and sister of Haberstock in Baden, Germany.

peals all of Chapter 14, Title 49 of the Revised Statutes of 1913 providing for the collection of a per capita school tax.

No. 61 also by Webb, repeals paragraph 5656, Chapter 1, title 1, which levies a per capita road tax.

Senate Bill No. 20 introduced by Kinney, of Gila, passed third and final reading by a vote of 18 to 0. This bill provides that referendum petitions against any ordinance, franchise or resolution, passed by a city council shall be signed by not less than ten per cent of the voters of the city, based upon the total vote cast for mayor at the last preceding city election. The measure now goes to the house.

In the house it is believed that too much work has accumulated to warrant a three day adjournment and it is expected that the statesman will hold themselves to the job, spending tomorrow in committee work, and resuming the regular routine.

His report will be made to the Mayor and council, and is eagerly awaited by all of Tombstone.

Another Line Rider

To Watch The Border

PHOENIX, Feb. 4.—To prevent the running of cattle across the Mexican border, the live stock sanitary board yesterday appointed George Walker of San Simon to patrol the district between Apache, Cochise county and the Southern Pacific railroad. The territory has recently been used for a rendezvous by those who were interested in getting drives across the line without attracting the attention of officers of the law. By reason of the recent occurrence of the foot and mouth disease in the Chicago stock yards, the board decided to take no action in the matter of recommending that shipments of cattle in New Mexico be allowed to enter the state. Infected cars, it was pointed out, might possibly find their way into southwestern territory, and so spread the disease.
